

2012 Japan-China Water Supply Technology Symposium (optional event)

Every year since 2001, JWRC and CWIA (China Society of Water Industry) has co-hosted the Japan-China Water Supply Technology Symposium.

This year, we will host it as an optional event of the 9th International Symposium on Water Supply Technology. With many academics and water professionals expected to join this annual event from China, it will offer excellent opportunities not only to learn both Chinese and Japanese water supply issues and technologies but also to explore and develop future business possibilities.
